LOCAL MAN IN ACCIDENT NEAR WAYNESBORO

An automobile driven by Barton Poth, 46, of the First National bank apartments, Center square, collided with a car driven by Clarence E. Clark, 65, of Wheaton, Ill., on Route 16, eight-tenths of a mile east of Waynesboro at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night.

Both cars were going toward Waynesboro. Poth was en route to the Gettysburg-Waynesboro football game. State police of the Chambersburg substation said that Poth's car struck the rear of the Clark automobile as the driver of the latter was making a left turn into a gasoline station.

Poth and two passengers in his car escaped injury, and no one was hurt in the Clark car. Damage to each car was estimated by state police at $100.

Crash Near York Springs

Chambersburg police said Poth would be charged before Justice of the Peace William Kinsinger, Washington township, Franklin county, with reckless driving.

Erich William Schnabel, 46, of Washington, D. C., was arrested Saturday afternoon by state police of the Gettysburg substation on a charge of driving too fast for conditions, after his automobile had run into the rear of one operated by Glenn Byers, 33, of Gettysburg R. 4, at 2:35 p. m. three miles south of York Springs on the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road. He paid a fine of $10 and costs to Justice of the Peace Roy Martin, Biglerville star route.

BULLETINS

Washington, Oct. 10 (P)—Navy fliers and radar experts told Congress today that Russia undoubtedly has both the warning system and the fighters needed to detect and knock down high-flying bombers like the Air Force B-36. They continued before the House armed services committee the Navy's barrage against a defense policy that puts so much of military funds into the giant, six-engine bomber.

Paris, Oct. 10 (P)—The entire staff of the Chinese embassy and consulate-general here today deserted the Nationalist regime and declared their support for the new Chinese Communist government at Peking. The move, taken on China's national holiday—the so-called "Double Ten" anniversary of Sun Yat Sen's 1911 revolution—represented a defeat for the newly-designated charge d'affaires, Tuan Mao-lan.

Boy Scouts Receive $2,200 From Community Chest Drive

Gettysburg, through its Community Chest, will again give $2,200 to the Boy Scouts this year, and scout officials declare that the town will receive much more for its money than ever before.

These statements reflect the enthusiasm of local leaders for the revised Boy Scout program which has come into existence during the past year.

Biggest change was the lowering of ages for scouting. Cub scouts are now eligible at eight, boy scouts at 11 and the senior scout program begins at 14 years of age. Reflecting the new age set up of the scout program is the rapid growth of all troops in the Gettysburg area, scout officials said. They pointed to the new senior scout program, featuring vocational training, social services and similar activities for those scouts over 14 as another boost to the scout movement in that it provides a program that keeps older boys interested in scouting.

As an example of the "up and coming" atmosphere in local scouting, officials pointed to one troop which has been in existence for 15 years and never had more than 20 to 25 members. Now it has 32 and is expected to increase its membership to 40. An entirely new troop is being readied in Gettysburg, scout officials said, because membership in the present troops is becoming too large for the scouters to handle.

Nearly all of the $2,200 donated to the scouts through the Community Chest goes to the York-Adams Boy Scout Council central office at York, scout heads said. Only a small amount is retained for use of the Black Walnut (Gettysburg) district.

The main reason for turning the money over to the central office is to provide better administration of funds for various activities carried out by the scouts in this area, scout officials say.

A 10-day notice will be sent by Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder to Edward D. Setton, Fayetteville R. 1, charging him with driving on the left side of the street in Center square and Chambersburg street Sunday morning.

More Than 500 Fathers And Mothers At College Affair

More than 500 fathers, and a large number of mothers of Gettysburg college students, were here Saturday and Sunday for the 26th annual Father's Day program at the college.

Highlight of the program included the Gettysburg-Drexel Institute football game on Saturday afternoon, a get-together for students and parents Saturday night in the Eddie Plank Memorial gymnasium, and Sunday morning services in the gym.

Parents attended classes with their sons and daughters Saturday morning, and attended the football game in the afternoon.

Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of the college, welcomed the fathers and mothers to the campus, at the Saturday evening get-together, and declared that the purpose of the Father's week-end was to have parents become better acquainted with the college and its activities.

In past years, Dr. Hanson said, parents seldom visited the college except at graduation time. The week-end for parents was somewhat like a meeting of a parent-teacher association, he said.

Lynn Leibfried brought the greetings of the women students to the parents, and Gordon Grigsby represented the men in a welcome to the parents.

The response for the fathers was given by the Rev. Chester S. Simon, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, York. A history of Father's week-end at the college was given by Robert Singer, president of Kappa Phi Kappa. Group singing was led by Howard Humphries.

After the program, the Owl and Nightingale club, under the direction of Dr. Richard A. Arms, presented a one-act comedy, "The Flattering Word." Fathers and sons adjourned to the fraternity houses and the SCA building after the play for smokers.

Dr. Hanson preached the sermon at the Sunday morning church services in the gymnasium. Miss Martha Herman was soloist. Fathers attended dinners Sunday at the fraternity houses and Huber hall.

TOURIST TRAVEL HERE OVER 8,000 FOR WEEK-END

More than 8,000 tourists visited Gettysburg and the National Military park here over the past week-end, near a record for October, according to park department officials.

The summer-like weather brought out thousands of motorists who jammed the highways east, west, north and south of Gettysburg Sunday. Caledonia and other state park areas were crowded.

The Sunday tourist travel over the battlefield was estimated at 5,160. Approximately 3,200 persons toured the field on Saturday, park officials said.

Among those here Saturday were several army officers and attaches of the Portuguese embassy in Washington, headed by Lt. Gen. Lassus Tome, Lt. Col. Louis Pina and Capt. Beza DeAvaytin. They were accompanied by U. S. army officials.

A group of approximately 360 persons from Baltimore arrived Sunday by special train on the Western Maryland railroad and toured the battlefield by bus.

The trip was arranged, according to the Chamber of Commerce, by Dr. H. Roland Carroll, Baltimore, and included employees of the U. S. Customs service of that city and friends. Capitol Transportation company buses took the party over the field. There were nine bus loads.

Among other Sunday visitors were General and Mrs. L. A. Grice and Col. and Mrs. J. J. Madigan, New York city.

The group of Portuguese officers, in addition to touring the battlefield, were also guests at the National museum, and heard the battlefield lecture given by Joseph Rosensteel and saw the electric map. Col. David H. Tate, U. S. Air Force, headed the American officers with the party.

The week-end was unusual in the number of automobiles from 32 states and the District of Columbia, and from several foreign countries, including Pretoria, Union of South Africa; London, Eng.; Sydney, Australia; and from several Canadian cities.

AUMEN URGES ELIMINATION OF FIRE RISKS

A single afternoon or evening will be enough time to rid your home of the most common fire hazards Fire Chief James A. Aumen said today in urging local citizens to join in the nation-wide observation for Fire Prevention Week, October 9 to 15.

"The first step is to clean out the cellar," the Chief said. "Most families have stacks of old magazines, piles of discarded clothing, and even pieces of furniture stuck away down there."

"All it takes is a spark from the furnace, or a defect in the wiring, or a carelessly dropped cigarette to start a fire in the cellar. Once it is started, it is particularly difficult to bring under control if those piles of fast-burning paper, cloth, and wood are there to supply fuel."

Cellar Is Danger Spot

The National Board of Fire Underwriters estimates that one out of every three home fires begins in the cellar, the Chief said.

"The next step is to clean out the attic, which is another danger spot," he said. "By cleaning up your home this week, you may keep it from burning up next week."

"Seven Steps to Fire Safety"

1. Have the complete heating system inspected, cleaned and repaired by an experienced repairman.
2. Provide covered metal containers for ashes and trash.
3. Avoid hanging extension cords over bare nails or running them under rugs, as this causes dangerous wear. Replace worn extension cords.
4. Always call in an experienced electrician for necessary home wiring, because "home handymen" have been responsible for many fires traced to faulty wiring.
5. Oil and clean motors of electric appliances, and check to be sure that belts are in proper condition. (This does not apply to refrigerators which have sealed-in motors.)
6. Place a metal screen in front of the fireplace, to guard against flying sparks and hot ashes.
7. Never clean with gasoline—it's dangerous. Fire experts suggest that cleaning be sent out; if you must clean at home, use cleaning fluids bearing the U.L. label of Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc.

ACCEPTS POSITION

I. David Plank, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Plank, Hanover street, has accepted a position in the laboratory of the Gulf Research and Development company, Pittsburgh. He will leave the latter part of this month to assume his duties.

He was riding in a car operated by Paul W. Peterson, 41, Orrtanna R. 1, when it swung wide on a curve one mile west of Cashtown on the old Lincoln highway, and smashed almost head-on into a car being driven west by Ray E. Davis, 43, Orrtanna R. D. Peterson was headed east at the time of the crash.

Divorce Case Is Returned To Master

The action in divorce brought by Marie V. Mummert, Gettysburg R. 4, against Earl C. Mummert, Hanover, was referred back to the master for additional testimony by the Adams county court Saturday.

In an opinion the court agreed with the master that the evidence submitted was insufficient to support a charge of indignities to the person, but held that a charge of indignities may be sustained if Mrs. Mummert were to testify to specific incidents rather than to generalities. For that reason, the court asked the master to take additional testimony. The court disagreed that a charge of desertion was sustained by the evidence presented.

WASHOUT KILLS FOUR ON TRAIN

Meade, Kas., Oct. 10 (AP)—A Rock Island passenger train hit a track washout three miles east of here today, killing four persons and injuring approximately 50. O. K. # Speaker's Two Long Touchdown Runs Feature Bullets' 21-0 Victory Over Drexel Eleven

Two long touchdown runs by Dwight Speaker, 142-pound back, featured the 21-0 victory gained by the undefeated Gettysburg college gridgers here Saturday afternoon over Drexel Tech before a sweltering Father's Day crowd of about 2,500 fans.

On the second play after they had gained possession of the ball the Bullets scored as Speaker broke through the right side of the line, turned in some fancy side-stepping and streaked 80 yards for a score.

With but a minute and a half remaining in the first half Speaker took the ball on his own 48, circled right end and then cut back to scamper 52 yards for the tally.

The final score of the game came on the first play of the fourth period when Ditty Jones circled right end to score from the 6.

35-Yard Point Boot

Ronnie Fitzkee, the Bullet place-kicking artist, added three more points on conversions. His second extra point boot was a beauty from the 17-yard line after the Bullets were setback 15 yards for illegal use of the hands on his first try, which was also good. The ball was put down on the 25 and Fitzkee's kick traveled 35 yards to clear the cross-bar.

Drexel presented a well-drilled aggression which proved to be the best Dragon team ever to appear here. The visitors put up a fine defensive game and but for several penalties and fumbles, which were frequent on both sides, might have caused considerably more trouble.

The Bullets were not up to par and should have gotten rid of a lot of loose playing. Rule infractions were frequent and a total of 225 yards in penalties were inflicted on the teams.

After Speaker had scored his touchdown with 2:25 minutes of play elapsed, Drexel received and gained a first down on the locals' 48. The Drexel attack bogged down and Scott punted to McCoy on the Gettysburg 8. McCoy brought the fans to their feet by streaking up field to Drexel's 43, where he was pulled down from the rear.

Quick Exchanges

Aided by a penalty for roughing the kicker, Gettysburg gained a first down on the 31. The ball changed hands rapidly in the next few minutes. Wolfinger recovered a fumble for Drexel on the 30 and two plays later Lantz of Gettysburg pounced on a fumble on the Drexel 35. On the next play Scott intercepted a pass on the Drexel 28. Two plays later Griffiths intercepted on the Drexel 42 and raced 18 yards before being forced out of bounds on the 24. The Dragons were equal to the occasion and braced to take the ball on the 19.

Early in the second period Jones punted out on Drexel's 37. Bigatel, Gerlach and Brow reeled off two straight first downs to the Bullets' 36. The Bream-men halted the drive with Scott finally punting to McCoy on the 17.

A pass, Pasztalaniec to Bigatel, gave the Dragons a first down on the Gettysburg 29, a short time later. Again the Bullets held and Billings attempted a field goal from the 42 but the ball was far short and wide, Gettysburg taking over on the 20.

Late in the quarter an exchange of 15-yard penalties left the Bullets with the ball on their own 44. Cervino picked up a first down on the 48. Bitner attempted three passes, all of which were knocked down and then Speaker got off on his second touchdown run, a 52-yard off-tackle jaunt. Fitzkee added his second straight placement boot point despite a 15-yard penalty after converting on his first try.

Midway in the third period the Bullets picked up a pair of first downs to reach Drexel's 35 but the attack bogged down. Gettysburg marched 71 yards for its final score, Sachs passing to Coder for a first down on the 1-foot line near the end of the third stanza. Three stabs were thrown back line to the determined Dragon forward line to the 6 before Jones circled right end on the first play of the fourth period to just get over the goal line.

Ebbert Recovers

Play for the most part in the last quarter was confined to midfield but late in the quarter Stozenski hurled a pass to Fisher for a first down on the Gettysburg 21. However, Danny Ebbert recovered a Drexel fumble on the 23 and the threat was over. Three bands were present during the afternoon, the Gettysburg high school band and its majorettes drawing much applause for their pre-game performance. Drexel's squad was accompanied by a snap 50-piece band and the college band put on a special Father's Day skit.

Next Saturday the Bullets, now sporting a three-game winning streak, meet powerful Lehigh here in a game which promises to draw the biggest home crowd of the season.

THUNDERBOLTS TAKE 2ND LOOP DECISION 20-6

Littlestown High, co-champions last year of the Little Six Football conference, won its second straight loop contest Saturday afternoon by defeating Washington Township on the latter's field 20-6.

In the opening period Bill Koons recovered a fumble for Littlestown on the Township 25. The Thunderbolts pounded through to the 4-yard line from where Feaser cracked over. He added the point on a placement.

A 70-yard run by Crouse in the second period which put the ball on the losers' 8-yard line opened the way for the second Littlestown touchdown. Rice going over from the 1. A pass, Feaser to Koons, was good for the point.

Washington Township fought back in the third period, recovering a fumble deep in Littlestown territory. Shindedecker took a lateral from Wagner and raced 20 yards around end for a tally. Sharran's placement for the point failed.

The Thunderbolts came right back in the same period for their third touchdown. Marshman whipping a 30-yard pass to Koons for a six-point. Feaser's kick for the point failed.

Bish and Snyder played outstanding games for the winners.

Littlestown rolled up 11 first downs to but three for Washington Township. Coach Evans' outfit completed two of three passes while Washington Township failed in all three of its aerials.

WIN LITTLE SERIES

Indianapolis, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Indianapolis Indians seldom play in the Little World Series, but they never lose.

The American Association playoff champions won their third Little World Series by beating the Montreal Royals Saturday night, 12-2.

The victory gave them the Little Series title, four games to two. It was their first appearance in the series since 1928.

Behind the brilliant Charley Connerly, the New York Giants outscored the Washington Redskins, 45-35.

Connerly passed for two tallies as the New Yorkers erupted for three touchdowns in the third quarter for the convincing victory.

The champion Philadelphia Eagles put the whammy on the Chicago Cardinals 28-3 Saturday night.

MID-WEST GRID DOMINANCE IS SHAKEN BY ARMY

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Middle West's three-year dominance in college football, shaken with the defeat of mighty Michigan by Army, may get another jolt this week.

Notre Dame's fighting Irish, who since 1945, have been battling with Michigan for top honors, are host to Tulane's Green Wave in a game that may turn the standings upside down.

Notre Dame will be protecting one of the longest unbeaten streaks in modern football. The Irish haven't been licked, though they've experienced ties, since Great Lakes subdued them in 1945. Last Saturday the Irish, sparked by Emil Sitko, romped over Purdue, 35-12.

Top Games Coming

Notre Dame replaced Army as the No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll in 1946 and 1947. Michigan, which beat out Notre Dame in a post-season poll in 1947, was declared the best team in the land last year.

Michigan, which topped the poll last week also, goes against Northwestern's Rose Bowl champions Saturday. In the first weekly poll of the year Notre Dame was ranked second and Tulane fourth.

Two other high-placed elvens that will bang heads in a game that will vie with the South Bend attraction for attention will be the Ohio State-Minnesota duel at Columbus, Ohio.

Another game pits the eighth and tenth ranked teams—Southern California and California—at Berkeley.

Other members of the top 10 should have less rugged sailing. Oklahoma, No. 3, plays Kansas. North Carolina, No. 6, takes on Wake Forest Army, No. 7 last week, but slated for a higher station, invades Harvard.

Southern Methodist, ninth in the list, plays a night game with formidable Rice.

Army's Black Knights of the Hudson turned in one of their greatest triumphs in stunning Michigan, 21-7, before 97,235 at Ann Arbor.

It was Michigan's first defeat in 26 games. Illinois was the last team to whip the Wolverines. That was in 1946.

15 PA. COLLEGES KEEP RECORDS FREE OF LOSSES

(By The Associated Press)

Fifteen of Pennsylvania's colleges boasted spotless records today after four weeks of conflict on the gridiron. Four others are unbeaten but tied.

Fifty-seven colleges and universities, ranging from some of the smallest to some of the largest in the United States, are fielding football teams in 1949.

Some of the names on the unbeaten list are familiar, but others are shockers on the basis of records of past years. Pitt, long a whipping boy for major colleges, has run up three victories. Bucknell, which couldn't win a game last year, scored two upsets in its first two games.

Upset By Bucknell

And Carnegie Tech, a non-winner for seven years, had a modest two-game unbeaten string.

Pitt found West Virginia a stubborn opponent, but emerged a 20-7 victor and should be able to coast through Miami of Ohio and a sub-par Indiana university before its big Oct. 29 date with Pennsylvania.

Penn will have a rockier road. The Red and Blue, a narrow 14-13 winner over its traditional Ivy league foe, Princeton, must get past Long Little's Columbia Lions and the resurgent Naval academy Midshipmen.

Bucknell, whose 13-7 decision over Delaware must rank as one of the top upsets of the season, moves into Philadelphia Friday to engage Temple, which has come back strongly after losing 54-0 to Texas in its opener. Temple surprised Syracuse last week-end, 27 to 14.

Carnegie Tech, which licked St. Francis 28 to 19, travels to Lancaster Saturday to play Franklin and Marshall, which tied Dickinson 13-13 Saturday.

Villanova, Pennsylvania's winningest team with four straight, plays host to Tulsa at Philadelphia Friday night. The Wildcats should be able to make their record show five victories. Overcoming a siege of fumbleitis, Villanova downed St. Mary's of California Friday night, 28 to 20.

The other unbeaten and untied teams and their winning margins of last week-end:

Allegheny, 21-20 over Oberlin; Clarion, 47-0 over Rio Grande; East Stroudsburg, 7-0 over Shippensburg; Gettysburg, 21-0 over Drexel; Juniata, 26-6 over Hartwick; National Agricultural, 32-7 over Long Island Aggies; St. Vincent, 13-0 over Alliance; Slippery Rock, 27-6 over Edinboro; West Chester, 19-7 over Cortland; Gannon, 19-0 over Delaware.

Clarion, St. Vincent and Gannon are the only state teams which have not been scored upon, Clarion rolling up 121 points and St. Vincent 73, Gannon 46.

St. Vincent faces tough opposition Friday night in unbeaten but tied Geneva, which edged past Grove City, 13 to 7 Saturday. Clarion engages another unbeaten but tied eleven, Thiel, which was held to 7-7 by Westminster. Also undefeated but tied are Wilkes, which defeated Bridgeport (Conn.) 21 to 13, and Kutztown Teachers, winner 12-6 over Mansfield.

Here are the results of other week-end games involving Pennsylvania teams: Scranton 23, Niagara 0; Delaware State 26, Lincoln 20; Lafayette 35, Muhlenberg 21; Rutgers 40, Lehigh 27; Western Maryland 39, Lebanon Valley 7; Lock Haven 16, Millersville 14; Waynesburg 22, Mt. St. Mary's 13; California 27, Indiana 5; Haverford 14, Ursinus 14; Bloomsburg 21, Kings 0; Susquehanna 34, Lycoming 6; Pennsylvania Military 28, Swarthmore 0.

as business of importance will be brought before the meeting. The meeting will be addressed by D. M.
Smayser, James G. Reed, Esq., and

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
On several occasions during the last few weeks, school children on their way from school have indulged in free fights on Baltimore street, requiring citizens to separate the combatants. We are under the impression that the school regulations require good behavior by pupils on their way to and from school, and for violation of these rules the offenders are liable to be punished by their teachers. If teachers and parents do not take cognizance of and break up these disgraceful pugilistic exhibitions, the Borough Constable should take the matter in hand. A look-up of 24 hours would take the fight out of these pugnacious youngsters.

Married: On the 27th ult., by Rev.
H. F. Long, Mr. James A. Grier of East Nottingham township, Cester county, to Miss Emma Gardner, of Carthy, Mr. Joseph Eckenrode to Miss Elizabeth Cool, both of this county.

Swope-Houser—On the 29th ult., at the Washington House, in this place, by Rev. M. L. Gane, Mr.
John N. Swope, of Hanover, to Miss L. Alvaretta Houser, daughter of
I. B. Houser, proprietor of the Washington House.

Zimmerman-Linn—On the 22d
ult., by Rev. A. R. Kremer, Mr. Peter Zimmerman, of Martinsburg, Blair county, to Mrs. Anna Eliza Linn, of Adams county.

Mr. Alex Miller, of Hampton, has leased the Battle-field Hotel, in this place.

The borough authorities have placed a new granite crossing on York street, midway between the diamond and Straton street.

Don't Send Wood: Last week we gave notice that a few cords of wood would be taken at this office.

OTHER PEOPLE

Other people are forever influencing our lives, often unconsciously, and unknown to us. So that in time
we become a bundle of individuals and not merely one. And then there is that other fact of inheritance.
There is a sample of generation after generation in us all. We are made up of others!

It's the other people in our everyday lives, and whom we most contact, however, who influence us most.
Many of them in a most unusual way. I recently read an interesting, and rather unique book by Ross Parmenter, a New York newspaper man, called "The Plant In My Window."

This chap rented a small furnished apartment, but when he moved in,
noted that a small plant—a philodendron—had been left behind. At first he just shoved it out of his way, but soon it intrigued him, and he took an absorbing interest in it,
and finally wrote his book about it.
Some one else had given him something to enlighten his mind and to catch his interest apart from his regular daily toil—and withal it was a thrilling adventure.

We are forever picking up knowledge that others have carelessly dropped as of no use to them, and made it valuable to ourselves. We have often learned from the mistakes of others, and profited from them. Few are the things that we can complete alone. Other people are essential.

We are happiest, as well, when there are other people about us. None of us can live to himself alone
and have any measure of happiness.
It's only as we communicate with the many, learning from them, and cooperating with them, whenever we can, for good purposes, that we fulfill the purpose of our existence.
If we think of others and try to contribute something to their welfare and happiness, they in turn will contribute richly to us.

The important people of the world
are those who are doing important things, and they are the ones it will pay us to know and work with.
That will make any of us important.
None of us can leave other people out of our scheme of life and be either successful or happy.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Wear."

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

"STICK 'EM UP"

When I was a child the fairies played
In the lovely garden my mother
made.
And whenever I took my daily
nap
I dreamed of the friendliest,
jolliest chaps
Who came in a wonderful sailing
ship
And took me away on a pleasant trip.

But now I am battered and old
and gray,
The fairies I knew have all gone
away.
Through the garden the
children run,
Each with a pistol or Tommy gun,
And when I appear: "Stick 'em
up!" they cry,
Keeping me there with my hands
held high.

Booted and holstered as cowboys
bold,
Today they are searching for hidden gold,
Fighting with bandits and
gangsters tough,
And I wonder that this can be childhood stuff.
No fairies in tulip or buttercup;
Just ranger and raider and:
"Stick 'em up!"

RUSSIANS PUT PRESSURE ON EAST GERMANY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Proclamation of the Eastern German Republic, under Russian domination, is a strategic move by Moscow aimed at winning over the republic recently established in the British-French-American zones of Germany with Bonn as capital.

The Soviet Union thus is intensifying its drive for a unified Germany which can be brought under control of Moscow.

The establishment of this Eastern Republic doesn't materially alter the status of that part of Germany as a Soviet satellite. The Russians already have Communized it heavily and are maintaining control with a big army of Red troops.

Hope for Union
What has been done by setting up the republic is to create a symbol of nationalism which the Muscovites hope will prove attractive to Western Germany and bring about a union. That's an idea which, of course, cuts two ways, for the Western powers are equally bent on drawing Eastern Germany into the Bonn Republic. So a hot contest is in prospect.

In any event, what we have been calling the "Russian zone of occupation" now has become a Communist state which takes its place among Moscow's satellites. Thus the Red empire bulges westward into Central Europe like a huge fist or battering ram.

Within this bulge lies Berlin, once proud and powerful capital of the Reich and, next to Paris, the most populous of the Continental cities.

Berlin Complication
The situation is curiously complicated by the fact that, while Berlin lies within the Russian zone, all four powers have areas which are under their control in the city itself.

Because of this, Britain, France and America are said by diplomatic officials in Washington to be considering the idea of adding their Berlin zones to the Western German Republic.

Now that Moscow has established the Eastern German Republic, we may find the odd circumstance of one city serving as capital of two separate governments at the same time.

The new regime denounced the Bonn government. The feeling was mutual, for Bonn characterized the formation of the Communist-dominated Eastern Republic as a national catastrophe.

T-H OATH CASE
TEST UP TODAY
Washington, Oct. 10 (P)—The Supreme court called today for its first hearing of arguments on constitutionality of the non-Communist oath requirement in the Taft-Hartley Labor act.

That requirement is questioned by the CIO United Steel Workers of America and the CIO American Communications Association in two appeals.

The Taft-Hartley act requires that union officials must file affidavits saying they are not Communists, if they wish to use machinery of the National Labor board.
The steel workers' union appealed from a Chicago Circuit court decision that its officials must file such affidavits before the Labor board requires the Inland Steel company to bargain on pension plans.

A statement explaining the union's present position was filed with the high tribunal on the eve of the argument sessions. In it the union says "its officers are not Communists and have never been, and they have no sympathy with Communism."

Since the filing of the appeal, the statement added, the international officers of the United Steel Workers have filed non-Communist oaths, but two local unions involved have not complied with the requirement.

FALL IS IDEAL TIME TO PLANT ROSES FOR 1950

Even as the coming fall means "football" to the sports fan, to the gardener in northern zones it means the ideal time to plant roses for the best results next season. Fall planting gives plants a head start in establishing a sturdy root system before they begin to spend energy in spring growth.

Then too, in most cases, the gardener is able to devote more time to his rose planting at this time than in the spring when there are so many planting chores to be done. By planning the location of beds and ordering his plants now, the gardener can assure himself of a strikingly beautiful display of color next year.

The first step is to plan the location of the rose beds in a spot that is well drained and receives at least 4 to 6 hours of sunlight each day.
The site should be a good distance from large trees (20 feet), shrubs (6 to 8 feet), and hedges (4 feet),
to eliminate competition for soil nutrients.

Once the site is chosen, the gardener should decide on the number of plants needed and assign each a location in keeping with the plan to be followed. The number to be ordered will depend on the size of the bed and the space required for each plant.

Spacing Is Important
Hybrid teas, the most widely-grown type in America, and floribundas, an increasingly popular class which produces flowers in thick, bouquet-like clusters, are subject to the same general planting rules.
Climbers and other types require somewhat different treatment.

Spacing of roses is extremely important. Hybrid teas should be placed from 1 1/2 to 2 feet apart in the northern tier of states and 2 1/2 to 3 feet apart in warmer climates.

The growth habits of floribundas vary considerably but in general
they will require at least as much space as a hybrid tea, or more.
Climbing varieties to be trained on arbors, fences or pillars should be planted from five to eight feet apart.

Top grade roses such as the four winners of the 1950 All-America
award, Capistrano, Mission Bells, Sutter's Gold and Fashion, are extremely hardy and will tolerate varied soil conditions. If the soil is unusually poor, however, some time should be spent in preparing it for the plants. Beds should be dug out to a depth of about 12 to 15 inches.
The bottom six to eight inches are filled with a mixture of one part peat moss and well rotted manure
or compost, to three parts of soil.
The remainder of the soil should be mixed with 25 per cent peat moss.
Should the location be improperly drained, a layer of gravel, cinders or small stones set under the bed will carry off excess water.

Plant When Received
When plants arrive, they should be put into the beds as quickly as possible. Soak the roots in water for a few hours before planting and be careful never to leave roots exposed to sun or wind.

Dig a hole large enough to accommodate the root system without crowding. Set the plant at a level which leaves the crown or union
even with or slightly raised above the ground. Spread the roots so that they slope downward at a 45 degree angle. Work loose soil under the roots and fill the hole gradually.

When it is almost full, tamp the soil down firmly around the roots and pour in about half a pail of water to eliminate air pockets.

When the water has drained off,
mound soil about eight inches high around each plant. This protection is essential in the colder northern climates where severe winters may do considerable damage. This protective mound is removed in spring
when growth begins.

New Plants Tested
Choosing the actual plants to be included in the garden can be greatly simplified for every gardener by following the recommendations of the country's most experienced rosarians, the National Rose Jury, which annually designates the best of the new varieties as All-America Rose Selections. These plants are tested over a two-year period in trial gardens located in different sections of the country. This testing method affords actual observation of plant performance under practically every condition of soil and climate,
and those plants that meet the stiff
All-America standards are a good bet for any gardener.

The four winners of the 1950
award may be obtained from leading nurserymen this fall. Three of the winners are hybrid teas: Capistrano,
a deep glowing rose-pink; Mission Bells, a deep salmon pink; and Sutter's Gold, a rich golden yellow shaded with orange and red. The fourth winner is a floribunda, Fashion, coral pink overlaid with gold, a new and unique color in roses.

Orders for these magnificent plants should be forwarded as early as possible as gardeners everywhere have shown great interest in obtaining these varieties.

Fragrance Makes Jonquil Desirable

While flower size carries a lot of weight in selecting the hardy bulbs
to be planted, it is not everything.
There are many smaller-flowered kinds which make up for their lack of size with some other outstanding characteristic. For example, the sweet-scented jonquils. Their fragrance makes them desirable.

Under the miniature daffodils is the variety W. P. Milner, a miniature trumpet variety growing about twelve inches tall. When fully open the flowers are pure white; before that they are a pretty light sulphur yellow. What most gardeners like especially about it is its longevity.
It will still be going strong twenty years after planting.

Don't Burn Leaves Under Your Trees

Don't burn leaves directly under a tree this fall. Heat may scorch the lower branches. The damage will show up next spring. It is better to burn the leaves in a wire hamper or container and scatter the ashes on the garden. Bonfires built on sidewalks or on curbs can be-the plants a better chance to make and store a reserve food supply for the winter.

The usual recommendation is to let the grass enter the winter at cutting height, which would mean about three inches. An inch or even two more will not cause any serious trouble. The blades will likely be matted down by the time early spring arrives but the new shoots will have no difficulty pushing their way through them while the overwintered tissue will gradually disintegrate and add its share of humus to the soil.

come hot enough to crack the pavement. If you must burn leaves raked from the lawn, remember neighbors.
Keep the fire under control, so the smoke does not blow into some one's window. Better still, put the leaves on a compost pile. There they will decompose and can be returned to the soil as humus.

Chapter 14

Ellen and Harry came back and presently Turk's big shadow darkened the doorway. He came in carrying his saddle, the sweat of the damp blankets filling the room.

"Well, bust mah britches!" he exclaimed. "We got visitors! Howdy, Miss Randall. Don't reckon I know these other folks. And me three days without a shave!"

Ellen made the introductions and Jay went on slicing smoked ham. Harry Seltzer had another drink from the now almost empty bottle and Turk finished it off. He came up and, by the time he came inside again supper was sizzling on the table.

Presently he rose and tossed away the last of a cigarette. "I'd better go down to the creek and get some water for the morning," he said. "I'll be back in a few minutes."

"I'll go with you," Ellen said. "It'll be a long time before you're back at the ranch, darling."

He went out with her, carrying the two pails, his ears burning at Turk's open laughter. They walked down the well-worn trail in silence. It was then he saw her face, bright in the first light of a new moon rising above the horizon.

"All right, Joe. Let's have an explanation," she said quietly.

He stared at her uncomprehendingly. "I don't know what you're driving at, Ellen. You saw I didn't take a drink tonight."

"Don't try to evade the issue," she cried out passionately.

"I'm not trying to evade anything," he said doggedly. "I just don't know what it's all about, that's all."

He was completely puzzled.

"What about Lucia?" she demanded.

He felt his mind begin to whirl. How did she know about Lucia?

"Why?" he began awkwardly, but she didn't give him a chance.

"So it's true! You thought I wouldn't find out, didn't you? You didn't know that Peg Smith is on Dad's payroll to watch the Morgans and to look out for strange tracks, did you? Well, he rode into the ranch and told Dad everything. He had a bandage around his head. You'd hit him over the head with a gun barrel a second time. You were down in some settlement—I don't know what kind—and drunk and making love to this Lucia, weren't you? You picked a quarrel with him and struck him, didn't you? Well, I didn't ride up her fifteen miles to show Mary and Harry the country. I rode up here to tell you that Dad is frothing at the mouth—that you're through—fired—and that I hate you from the bottom of my heart. But I didn't tell you when you first got in. I wanted to wait. I wanted to let you think you're getting away with something. I wanted to tell you that I'm marrying Harry Seltzer the first of next month."

He let it sink in, standing rigidly. He knew that if he were Joe he'd slap her face, quarrel with her, anything except stand here and take it. But he bent and picked up the buckets.

"All right," he said quietly. "I'll pack up and haul in the morning."

He felt sick inside. He had let Joe down by trying to play Joe's game; riding with Turk to Brad Morden's layout on Antelope Creek.

"Haven't you anything to say?" she finally demanded, and he knew it was a defensive gesture to cover her feelings. "Aren't you even going to deny it?"

He felt the slight jar, at first, somewhere in the vicinity of his left shoulder blade. It was communicated to all his senses with the speed of a dynamite explosion that ended up in his brain. The water pails were flying as he plunged face down in the trail. From somewhere nearby echoed the crash of a heavy caliber rifle.

He lay there on his face in the dirt, his senses telling him that something was wrong. He heard her scream, the sound of running boots, boasted of doing to so many others. "Shore," Turk agreed very quickly. "I reckon that's who it was." He turned to Ellen. "Seems to me, Miss Randall, you'd ought to be getting back to the ranch. A line cabin ain't no place for a couple of young ladies. Harry can stay here 'n' give me a hand."

"We'll do nothing of the kind," came two feminine voices. Ellen said, "I'm going to stay right here and sit over him all night, Turk. I wouldn't leave him if the ranch was burning down."

"All right," Turk agreed reluctantly, scratching his shock of flaming hair again. "My bunk's kinda narrow for two but you two kin sleep in it, takin' turns. Harry an' me will take a couple blankets an' bed down in the feed shed on the grain."

He rose and picked up his rifle, nodding to Harry.

"I feel so rotten, Mary," Ellen whispered so that the sound wouldn't carry. "I rode up here all the way just to accuse him of loving that Spanish girl . . . and a few minutes later he was shot."

"You love him very much, don't you, darling?" Mary asked.

"More than anything else in all this world. He quarrels with me, he's even slapped me, but there's something in his wild, untamed nature and that handsome face of his that goes through me like a knife every time I think of it. As soon as he gets well enough I'm going to marry him and Dad can go hang."

"I think Harry understands perfectly. All the way out here on the train he could talk of nothing but you, seeing you again. He told Father he was going to ask you to marry him. But I'm sure he understands now."

Mary and Ellen got ready for the night vigil. They covered the windows with old newspapers and barred the door. Jay still lay silent, his smooth-muscled body motionless in the light of the lamp. He was either asleep or unconscious, Ellen thought.

As a matter of fact, he was wide awake. He heard them tip-toeing and talking in whispers, and presently Mary undressed and lay down on Turk's blankets. Ellen sat beside him as the night wore on. Some time in the early morning hours he dropped off to sleep for a period and then awoke with a groan, thirst burning his mouth. He saw Mary's face over him and heard Ellen come up quickly from the bunk.

"Water," he croaked.

She brought the glass and lifted his head while he drank and then brought him a second glass. She wiped the wetness from around his face and neck and he closed his eyes again.

Presently he dozed off once more. (To be continued)

FAIRY TALES ARE OUT WITH COMMUNISTS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The Russian satellite nations of Eastern Europe are undergoing an educational metamorphosis which bids fair to change their entire outlook on life and take them still further away from Western thought.

The satellite governments are busy overhauling their school systems to make them conform with the Communist ideological teachings laid down by Moscow. Czechoslovakia, for example, is engaged in eliminating from children's reading all such frivolities as rags-to-riches success stories and the fairy tales which for centuries have fascinated youngsters the world around.

In place of such material the small folk are getting text-books which give a new and "genuine" outlook. Even such success stories as that of Henry Ford are banned, on the grounds that he was "an exploiter of the working people."

Remolding Civilization

The significance of this revolutionary change is pointed out in an article by Educationalist Josef Barbag in the Warsaw "Trybuna Ludu," organ of the Communist dominated Polish United Workers' party. He says schooling is to be linked more closely to political, social and economic life. It is to be based upon the ideology, education and methods of Marxist-Leninism.

Barbag declares that special emphasis will be placed on subjects concerning the Soviet Union "with its leading role in the world, its achievements in the field of science, technology, culture and art." He continues:

"The tendency of our new school program is to introduce the fullest possible information about the Soviet Union in the lowest school grades, while the new school programs will also show on the basis of facts the character of Anglo-Saxon imperialism, its anti-social tendencies and its negative and destructive role in every sphere of life."

In short, Moscow is in process of remolding civilization, which will regard Russia as the parent nation of the world.

car at the scene, noticed that there was someone in the blazing rear seat of the car, attempting to get out. Hostetter pulled Wincer from the flaming mass. He was terribly burned, and his hair and clothes were afire. Hostetter and others beat out the flames in Wincer's hair and about his clothes.

Call Fire Company

Early arrivals at the scene threw sand on the Peterson car in an attempt to extinguish the blaze, but were unable to cope with the conflagration. The Cashtown fire company was called to put out the fire.

Dr. C. G. Crist, county coroner, assisting state police in conducting the investigation, said that an inquest will be held in the near future.

Seven persons were injured in the crash, including Wincer. Forsythe suffered a cut on the chin, a dislocated hip, burns of the legs, bruised and possible rib fractures. Peterson had chest bruises, brush-burns and fractured ribs.

Others Injured

Davis had a laceration of the forehead, and his wife, age 39, had cuts over the eyes and a possible fracture of the left ankle. Two children in the Davis car were also injured. Rosella Russell, aged seven, had a compound fracture of the leg and possibly other fractures and Richard Bittinger, aged six, had a laceration of the lip. The children reside with Mr. and Mrs. Davis.

The three men in the Peterson car were removed to the Warner hospital in the local ambulance. Mrs. Davis and the children were taken to the hospital by Lamont Kane.

Stassen Explains Russian Progress

Harrisburg, Oct. 10 (AP)—Espionage and the shipment abroad of electronics materials in 1947 helped Russia develop the atom bomb, says Harold E. Stassen.

"In my judgment the reason the atomic explosion in Russia occurred ahead of the anticipated schedule was because of these shipments," he told the state newspaper publishers Saturday night.

"Espionage also brought an advance in atomic information to Russia that was significant," Stassen said.

The president of the University of Pennsylvania and former governor of Minnesota addressed the final banquet-session of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association's 25th anniversary convention.

Stassen also warned both capital and labor to guard against "excesses" lest they bring about the downfall of the capitalist system in America. "And no system has yet been devised under which men can be free other than under the capitalistic system," he added.

The borough of Somerfield, Pa., was completely submerged when the Youghiogheny flood control dam was built—but it still exists as a corporation and owns some funds.

Miss Budde served as organist for mass, and Miss Weaver for the procession.

Sunday evening's service consisted of rosary, sermon by the Rev. Fr. Banks, and solemn benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, at which the Rev. Fr. Michael Kasko, of Jednota Home, Middletown, served as the celebrant; the Rev. Fr. William B. Cavanaugh, pastor of Seven Sorrows church, Middletown, deacon; and the Rev. Fr. George A. Lavelle, pastor of St. Aloysius church, sub-deacon.

Services tonight will begin at 7:30 o'clock, following which confession will be heard. Masses on Tuesday morning will be held at 5:30 and 8 a. m., and the closing service will be conducted Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. A number of neighboring priests will take part.

It began Sunday afternoon and will close Tuesday morning. Masses will be said each week-day during October at 8 a. m. Saturday's mass will be a nuptial mass. Instruction for high school students will be held Thursday at 6:30 p. m. Confirmation will be conducted in St. Aloysius by the Most Rev. George L. Leech, bishop of the Harrisburg diocese, October 19.

Union Vespers Begin

The opening service of the 1949-1950 union vesper services, sponsored by the Littlestown Ministerium, was held Sunday evening in the Centenary Methodist church. Host pastor, the Rev. Harvey B. Simons, conducted the service. Mrs. Harvey B. Simons presided as organist for the service. The Rev. Mr. Simons read the scripture lesson from the 24th and 25th chapters of St. Matthew. A violin solo, "Barcarollee," was presented by William Simons, accompanied on the organ by his mother, Mrs. Harvey B. Simons.

The Rev. David S. Kammerer, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church and president of the Ministerium, preached the sermon. He used as his theme, "Preparing for the Crisis." Next Sunday evening, the service will be held in Redeemer's Reformed church with the Rev. Harvey B. Simons preaching.

A well attended sample fair was conducted on Friday evening in the social hall of St. John's Lutheran church by the Ever Willing Sunday school class. There were a number of door prize samples awarded. Luther W. Ritter showed his colored pictures of his European trip. Mrs. Charles E. Tressler, president of the class, was the presiding officer and Mrs. Robert Weaver was in charge of the door prizes. The monthly meeting of this class will be held Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Noah Strevig, North Queen street, in the form of a Halloween party. Every person attending is requested to come masked. Those coming unmasked will be required to pay a forfeit.

H. W. SCHWARTZ RALLY SPEAKER

A largely-attended Rally Day service was held in St. Luke's church, White Hall, on Sunday morning. Guest speaker for the occasion was Harvey W. Schwartz, teacher of the Young Men's Bible class of Christ Reformed Sunday school, and also a teacher in the public schools of Littlestown. His subject was "Two Ways." The program was carried out as previously announced with the addition of a song by the Women's class, Mrs. D. C. Shenebrook, teacher. Mrs. Robert Spangler was the organist.

Announcement was made that the Sunday school will sponsor a church rally Sunday, October 16, at 7:30 p. m. Claude O. Meckley, Hanover, formerly of St. Luke's congregation, will be the speaker. His theme will be "What the Sunday School and Church Should Mean to Each of Us." Mr. Meckley is a teacher in St. Matthew's Sunday school, Hanover. A special offering will be received for the benefit of the Cemetery Endowment fund.

Prof. Paul E. King, superintendent of St. John's Lutheran Sunday school, presided over the Rally Day services Sunday morning during the school hour, when the following program was presented: organ prelude, "Onward Christian Soldiers," Mrs. Malcolm Heiser, pianist; group song, "Come Thou Almighty King"; responsive reading, Psalm 43 read by Mr. King; prayer; the Rev. Kenneth D. James, pastor; group song, "Praise the Lord"; reading of Sunday school lesson, Mr. King; vocal solo, "Saviour Like a Shepherd Lead Us," Fred Harman, Silver Run, accompanied by Mrs. Heiser; offering and attendance; address, A. The only golf course in the world created expressly for boys and girls is the Juvenile Country Club, Hershey, Pa. Grown-ups use the course now, too, but originally it was intended for children.

Pennsylvania has a Black Forest too, between Coudersport and Lock Haven, one of the wildest forest areas in Pennsylvania.

Season Opens On Woodcock, Doves

Harrisburg, Oct. 10 (AP)—Pennsylvania woodcock, by the thousands, today took to the field in search of the elusive woodcock and doves.

The two birds became legal prey at 9 a. m. with the prospects of a large supply of the "timberdoodles"—if they can be found.

Last year, Keystone state hunters returned with only 26,210 woodcock and 6,847 doves. The state game commission, however, advised that spring observations of the nesting areas indicated a good hatch of the sports birds.

The daily limit is four woodcock and 10 doves and the possession limit, after the first day, is two days' bag.

Shooting hours for doves and woodcock in October are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset daily, except Sundays. On November 1 only, the opening hour is 9 a. m. when the small game season starts, and the closing hour is 5 p. m. From then on to the close of the season, Nov. 8, the hunting hours are 7 a. m. to 5 p. m.

MELLON EMPIRE MOURNS DEATH

Pittsburgh, Oct. 10 (AP)—From Persia to Pittsburgh offices of Gulf Oil corporation closed at noon today. Around the world employees paused in memory of the man who guided the firm's destinies nearly half a century.

William Larimer Mellon, 81, became ill three weeks ago after returning from a vacation in Canada. He died Saturday afternoon at his Pittsburgh home. Funeral services were set for 4 p. m. today.

He entered his family's oil business at 20. When the Gulf Oil corporation was formed in 1907 to consolidate various oil interests, he was named a director and vice president. Within two years he became president.

Mellon's wife died in 1942. He subsequently established the W. L. and May T. Mellon Foundation which in 1947 gave $6,000,000 dollars to the Carnegie Institute of Technology for the nation's first graduate school of industrial administration.

He also contributed to many Republican party campaigns and was state chairman of the GOP in 1927. On two occasions he was a delegate

By Federal Court

Washington, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Federal Court of Appeals today upheld a Securities and Exchange Commission order directing the Philadelphia company, Pittsburgh, Pa., to dispose of its natural gas properties and transportation interests.

The court also upheld the SEC in directing that the Pittsburgh corporation dissolve and liquidate as a public utility holding company.

The three-man tribunal was unanimous in finding that Philadelphia company, as now constituted, violates the Federal Holding Company act.

Gas properties ordered disposed of include holdings in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky. The transportation interests consist of Pittsburgh Railways company and 54 subsidiaries which operate the public transit system in the Pittsburgh area.

Duff Gives His
Support To Bonus

Harrisburg, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Pennsylvania American Legion pinned a soldier's button on Governor James H. Duff's coat lapel today.

Walter A. Alessandrini, state commander, gave the governor the button in a brief ceremony at the executive's office.

The ceremony continued the Legion's drive to obtain approval by the voters at the November 8 election of a proposed $500,000,000 bond issue for the purpose.

Duff in receiving the button reaffirmed his support of the bonus legislation, declaring that: "I said long ago while still a candidate for governor that the bonus question ought to be submitted to the voters of Pennsylvania, because other states are supporting such legislation."

The Legion is distributing 500,000 buttons to its 1,000 posts in the state. The buttons are yellow in color with the Legion emblem in the center and contain the words: "I'm voting for Amendment 1-A." (Bonus amendment)

A NEW-OLD FLOWER INDOORS

Relatively few flower growers are acquainted with the hardy and beautiful Torenia — pronounced Ter-e-ni-a, with a long "e" as in cede. Occasionally gardeners discover this fine ornamental for edging and low border roles and so utilize it effectively, especially where its blue flowers are needed for harmony or contrast. But rarely is it found among flowering indoor plants for brightening the window garden over winter. Here are a few suggestions to enable growers to enjoy this old but new flower indoors and out.

One of the outstanding merits of Torenia is the easy way by which hundreds of plants can be started from seed, either for use indoors over winter or for outdoor roles in summer. Seed should be sown in a flat of mellow loam containing plenty of compost or leafmold to render the mixture friable. It is wise to press the seed into the soil in order to avoid too deep covering. If a pane of glass is at hand and it is placed over the flat, seed will germinate sooner and seedling growth will be more rapid. The soil should be kept slightly damp but not wet. A sunny coldframe may be used for growing seedlings at this time of the year or for starting plants in early April for outdoor use.

If the flat or frame is kept sufficiently warm in the sun, seedlings should be ready to move to their growing place in a week to 12 or 14 days. In fact, many growers report they bring Torenia into bloom in 10 weeks after they sow seed under glass. This is particularly true where plants are started in a sunny frame in April and later moved to their growing places in the open.

Torenia grow from 8 to 12 inches tall and bear a trumpet flower with outer petals of blue and an inside shading of yellow. Plants are compact and free blooming. They may be moved from flat or frame to individual small pots, window boxes or hanging baskets. From the scores of seedlings produced by a small packet of seed the indoor plant grower may have more than a plenty for all desirable roles.

If a 12-week seed-to-bloom schedule is followed, indoor growers may have Torenia

ANTI-REDS WIN AUSTRIAN VOTE BY BIG MARGIN

Vienna, Oct. 10 (AP) — Austrian voters kept their nation lined up with the anti-Communist countries of Europe in a week-end parliamentary election marked by a decided upsurge in Rightist sentiment.

Final unofficial returns today revealed that Chancellor Leopold Figl's anti-Red coalition government remained firmly in the saddle despite some loss of strength. That coalition, composed of the conservative people's party and the Socialists, will continue to run the new government.

Figl's people's party held it rank as Austria's biggest party, winning 77 seats in the 165-member lower house of parliament. The Socialists won 67 seats, to give the government coalition an overwhelming 144-vote bloc in the chamber.

Democratic Outpost

Communists, who won only four seats in the 1945 election, added one more in Sunday's voting. But their failure to make any appreciable gain led Chancellor Figl to proclaim that the voting gave "clear and unmistakable proof that Austria is an outpost of the western democratic world."

Some feature of the balloting was the emergence of the Rightist League of Independents, a new party, as an important political factor with 16 parliamentary seats.

The league, led by Dr. Herbert Kraus, made open appeals during the campaign for the support of former Nazis. Its opponents accused the league of being sympathetic to Nazi ideas although Kraus himself lost his commission in the German army during the war because he criticized Nazi policy.

The League of Independents made its gains at the expense of the People's party, which dropped eight seats to lose the absolute majority it held in the last parliament, and the Socialists, who lost nine seats.

WILL COMMIT UNRUH TODAY

Camden, N. J., Oct. 10 (AP) — Howard B. Unruh, former artilleryman accused of slaying 13 persons in Camden's River road massacre, will be formally committed to an institution for the criminally insane after a court order is signed—probably today.

Unruh—who will remain in the New Jersey state hospital at Trenton—doesn't yet know that four psychiatrists have adjudged him insane and that he may spend the rest of his life in the mental institution.

He was taken to the Trenton hospital September 7, the day after 13 men, women and children were mowed down by bullets from Unruh's German Lager automatic.

Unruh himself is still undergoing treatment for a bullet wound of the thigh—sustained in an exchange of gunfire with police before he was forced out of his barricaded room by tear gas.

Dr. Walter McGee, head of the medical division of the Trenton hospital, said that since the formal commitment papers have not yet reached the hospital, Unruh has not been told the psychiatrists found him insane. "He will eventually know, of course," he said, "that he will remain at the hospital." Asked whether Unruh would be released from solitary confinement, Dr. McGee replied "He won't be allowed to vegetate."

PLAN NURSES' HOMES

Harrisburg, Oct. 10 (AP) — Pennsylvania's mental hospitals are getting 10 new nurses' homes. C. M. Woolworth, state property and supplies secretary, said the first of the buildings, designed to boost the student nursing program, already is under way at the Danville hospital.

JOHN SPROUL DIES

Chesler, Pa., Oct. 10 (AP) — John Sproul, 54, son of a former Pennsylvania governor, died yesterday in Chesler hospital of a cerebral hemorrhage. Sproul, son of the late The league did not enter the 1945 elections, held when former Nazis were barred from voting.
